can art he made it distinctly traceable to Venetian Influence, the Venetians being the first to introduce easy, graceful examples of picture painting.

From the Duich masters as landscapists Mr. Daingerfield said that John Constable and Richard Parks Bonnington became the fathers of natural art in England. Their paintings, huns in French Evaloris, wrought a revolution in French art, which up to this time had been both stiff and formal.

E-alors, wrought a revolution in Fronch art, which up to this time had been both stiff and formal.

Reverting to "our own art," Mr. Daingerfield spoke eloquently of the great strides made in the last twenty-five years by American artists. The uplifting of art standards and the diffusion of art education is shown everywhere in America by the character of the pictures hung in public and private galleries; by the interior and exterior decorations of public and private buildings; by the art exhibits which are held in all American cities of importance, and by the art scholes of this country, which are taking rank with those in Europe.

In the classification of American masters of art, Mr. Daingerfield gave to George Inness the honor of its fatherhood. He mentioned A. H. Wynant and Homer Martin as the foremost American Innescape palaiters, and John Lefarge as standing ahead in figure work. He drew a clear distinction between American artists, pure and simple, and those who, like Sergeant and Abby, are more European than American by association and environment.

THE SELLING OF LIQUOR

Two Dealers Were Refused by Judge Witt Yesterday.

OBJECTIONS ARE RAISED

Capt. Shinberger Made an Effective Statement-Fifty-five Liquor Men Secured the Necessary

Papers.

Judge Witt was engaged all of yes-terday morning hearing and passing upon applications for liquor licenses, as a rethe necessary legal sanction by the Hustings Court. With the 150 who have already been given permits there will be no material chinge in the number of saloons in Richmond, despite the increased license taxation.

During the past week Judge Witt has considered any number of applications, and in no instance was any objection offered, the police captains of the various districts approving the petitions. But it was not thought that as many as fifty-five would weather the examination yesterday, the judge hawing summoned many police officers to appear before him and give testimony regarding this or that saloon.

TWO WERE REFUSED.

As a result of the summons, twenty-five or thirty officers were in court yesterday morning. As the petitions were read out Judge Witt inquired to know whether there was any objection, and only in three instances did the officers oppose a grant. All were made by Capitals, Shinberger, of the First District, and in two he was sustained, licenses being refused. The third is still pending, Judge Witt having taken the case under advisement. Mrs. M. Carmody, who has for a number of years conducted a saloon at No. 401 North Seventeenth Street, was refused a license, the pelice capitain stating she conducted a disorderly place, and was thought to violate the Sunday law. J. A. Jenhings, of No. 1 East Canal Street, was likewise turned down, the objections being of a similar nature. TWO WERE REFUSED.

J. A. Jenhings, of No. 1 East Canal Street, was likewise turned down, the objections being of a similar nature.

J. J. Walsh, No. 1421 East Franklin Street, was objected to, and his case is still pending.

THOSE LICENSED.

The following were granted permits:
P. Lewyl. Fraferieri and Dalle Mura, Mrs. L. G. Heeke, P. Traferieri, C. Baab, Faul Valdrighi, G. Casteivischi, Jones and Folkes, Mrs. E. C. O'Rourke, C. Maroni, John Rocchieccoli, G. Arrighi and Company, C. D. Hutzler, G. A. Hundley, James Bahen, Jr., T. J. Wolf, H. Beelman, H. F. Waldrop, William Muller, H. H. Note, A. L. Engelking, D. Hallman, A. Hobke, J. C. Wann, E. J. Cooke, agent, James Bahen, H. M. Moran, D. Casel and Son, C. Adorni, Mrs. A. E. Martin, F. L. Kumfort, J. L. Daglioni, S. C. Poll, Brown and Hanberry, Mrs. A. B. Martin, J. J. Robben, Miss E. A. Clancey, D. Micholi and Company, C. M. Duke, Cohen and Bros., D. J. O'Nell, J. L. Cooke, E. B. O'Connor, Fred Stoinheimer, V. Dalle Lucle, J. A. Bertecci, H. Casteivicchi, W. T. Dyson, P. J. Bagley, J. A. McDonough, H. Evans, J. W. Keaveney, F. L. Landrum, Peter Chiccloci.

There are still pending about fitty applications, and many of these will be considered to-day, when it is expected some stronuous objection will manifest itself, it is understood that one of the reasons for holding them back this far is due to the probable opposition.
